

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: THE WEEKLY JOURNAL is mailed to subscribers at FIFTY DOLLARS PER ANNUM; FIVE DOLLARS FOR SIX MONTHS; TWO DOLLARS FOR THREE MONTHS; ONE DOLLAR FOR ONE MONTH. THE WEEKLY JOURNAL at Two Dollars for ANNUUM; One Dollar for SIX MONTHS; and Fifty Cents for ONE MONTH. Single Copies for less than these rates.

Wilmington Journal

Table with 2 columns: Rates of Advertising, and Amount. Includes rates for One Square, two weeks, One Square, one month, One Square, three months, One Square, six months, and Additional Squares at proportional rates.

Wilmington Journal

WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, JULY 26, 1872.

We had the pleasure of seeing in our city on yesterday, Henry T. Jordan, Esq., of Person county.

Captain Jordan was a member of the Board of Managers in behalf of the House of Representatives on the trial of the impeachment of Governor Holden, and was one of the most faithful and efficient members of the Legislature. He brings cheering intelligence in regard to the political prospects in the central portion of the State.

Blood will Tell.

For the future," says the New York Herald, "whatever may be the result of the pending Presidential election, the Herald will insist upon an entire change of policy towards the Southern States under the next Administration, and will hold every Congressman up to the contempt and scorn of the American people who favors any measures for the oppression of the white man of the South."

Brave Words.

The New York Herald says: "We applaud the courage, the manhood, the nobility of the Southern people, now that they are free to speak their minds, and we admit their equal title to all the privileges and rights of the Constitution. We shall hold the Administration in the future responsible for any restriction of the rights of the people of the country, and shall regard as an assault upon their liberties and privileges any measure against the Republic."

Brave Words.

The New York Herald says: "We applaud the courage, the manhood, the nobility of the Southern people, now that they are free to speak their minds, and we admit their equal title to all the privileges and rights of the Constitution. We shall hold the Administration in the future responsible for any restriction of the rights of the people of the country, and shall regard as an assault upon their liberties and privileges any measure against the Republic."

Brave Words.

The New York Herald says: "We applaud the courage, the manhood, the nobility of the Southern people, now that they are free to speak their minds, and we admit their equal title to all the privileges and rights of the Constitution. We shall hold the Administration in the future responsible for any restriction of the rights of the people of the country, and shall regard as an assault upon their liberties and privileges any measure against the Republic."

Brave Words.

The New York Herald says: "We applaud the courage, the manhood, the nobility of the Southern people, now that they are free to speak their minds, and we admit their equal title to all the privileges and rights of the Constitution. We shall hold the Administration in the future responsible for any restriction of the rights of the people of the country, and shall regard as an assault upon their liberties and privileges any measure against the Republic."

Brave Words.

The New York Herald says: "We applaud the courage, the manhood, the nobility of the Southern people, now that they are free to speak their minds, and we admit their equal title to all the privileges and rights of the Constitution. We shall hold the Administration in the future responsible for any restriction of the rights of the people of the country, and shall regard as an assault upon their liberties and privileges any measure against the Republic."

Brave Words.

The New York Herald says: "We applaud the courage, the manhood, the nobility of the Southern people, now that they are free to speak their minds, and we admit their equal title to all the privileges and rights of the Constitution. We shall hold the Administration in the future responsible for any restriction of the rights of the people of the country, and shall regard as an assault upon their liberties and privileges any measure against the Republic."

Brave Words.

The New York Herald says: "We applaud the courage, the manhood, the nobility of the Southern people, now that they are free to speak their minds, and we admit their equal title to all the privileges and rights of the Constitution. We shall hold the Administration in the future responsible for any restriction of the rights of the people of the country, and shall regard as an assault upon their liberties and privileges any measure against the Republic."

Brave Words.

The New York Herald says: "We applaud the courage, the manhood, the nobility of the Southern people, now that they are free to speak their minds, and we admit their equal title to all the privileges and rights of the Constitution. We shall hold the Administration in the future responsible for any restriction of the rights of the people of the country, and shall regard as an assault upon their liberties and privileges any measure against the Republic."

Brave Words.

The New York Herald says: "We applaud the courage, the manhood, the nobility of the Southern people, now that they are free to speak their minds, and we admit their equal title to all the privileges and rights of the Constitution. We shall hold the Administration in the future responsible for any restriction of the rights of the people of the country, and shall regard as an assault upon their liberties and privileges any measure against the Republic."

Brave Words.

The New York Herald says: "We applaud the courage, the manhood, the nobility of the Southern people, now that they are free to speak their minds, and we admit their equal title to all the privileges and rights of the Constitution. We shall hold the Administration in the future responsible for any restriction of the rights of the people of the country, and shall regard as an assault upon their liberties and privileges any measure against the Republic."

National and State Politics—Senator Tipton.

The Radicals are devoting considerable attention just now to Senator Tipton. The Era says:

"It may be interesting to those who listen to the speech of Senator Tipton today, to know that he was a chaplain of the U. S. Army during the rebellion. By some means, unknown to us, he preached himself to the U. S. Senate, and voted for all the reconstruction acts passed by the Congress."

National and State Politics—Senator Tipton.

The Radicals are devoting considerable attention just now to Senator Tipton. The Era says:

"It may be interesting to those who listen to the speech of Senator Tipton today, to know that he was a chaplain of the U. S. Army during the rebellion. By some means, unknown to us, he preached himself to the U. S. Senate, and voted for all the reconstruction acts passed by the Congress."

National and State Politics—Senator Tipton.

The Radicals are devoting considerable attention just now to Senator Tipton. The Era says:

"It may be interesting to those who listen to the speech of Senator Tipton today, to know that he was a chaplain of the U. S. Army during the rebellion. By some means, unknown to us, he preached himself to the U. S. Senate, and voted for all the reconstruction acts passed by the Congress."

National and State Politics—Senator Tipton.

The Radicals are devoting considerable attention just now to Senator Tipton. The Era says:

"It may be interesting to those who listen to the speech of Senator Tipton today, to know that he was a chaplain of the U. S. Army during the rebellion. By some means, unknown to us, he preached himself to the U. S. Senate, and voted for all the reconstruction acts passed by the Congress."

National and State Politics—Senator Tipton.

The Radicals are devoting considerable attention just now to Senator Tipton. The Era says:

"It may be interesting to those who listen to the speech of Senator Tipton today, to know that he was a chaplain of the U. S. Army during the rebellion. By some means, unknown to us, he preached himself to the U. S. Senate, and voted for all the reconstruction acts passed by the Congress."

National and State Politics—Senator Tipton.

The Radicals are devoting considerable attention just now to Senator Tipton. The Era says:

"It may be interesting to those who listen to the speech of Senator Tipton today, to know that he was a chaplain of the U. S. Army during the rebellion. By some means, unknown to us, he preached himself to the U. S. Senate, and voted for all the reconstruction acts passed by the Congress."

National and State Politics—Senator Tipton.

The Radicals are devoting considerable attention just now to Senator Tipton. The Era says:

"It may be interesting to those who listen to the speech of Senator Tipton today, to know that he was a chaplain of the U. S. Army during the rebellion. By some means, unknown to us, he preached himself to the U. S. Senate, and voted for all the reconstruction acts passed by the Congress."

National and State Politics—Senator Tipton.

The Radicals are devoting considerable attention just now to Senator Tipton. The Era says:

"It may be interesting to those who listen to the speech of Senator Tipton today, to know that he was a chaplain of the U. S. Army during the rebellion. By some means, unknown to us, he preached himself to the U. S. Senate, and voted for all the reconstruction acts passed by the Congress."

National and State Politics—Senator Tipton.

The Radicals are devoting considerable attention just now to Senator Tipton. The Era says:

to resist any further encroachments upon her sacred rights.

Resolved, That in the event the Federal Government repeats or impairs the efficiency of the provisions of the fugitive slave law, or refuses to enforce its execution, in good faith, that it would be the duty of the State to take such measures as may be required for her safety and honor.

Resolved, That if either of the contingencies contemplated in the foregoing resolutions should arise during the recess of the General Assembly, that the Governor be requested to convene that body to the end that the rights of the State may be maintained.

Resolved, That a copy be transmitted to each Senator and Representative in Congress and to the Governor of each State.

John Pool, United States Senator.

This notorious individual has promised to speak here to-day. Notwithstanding Senator Pool is so notorious throughout the length and breadth of the land, there are a few points in his record about which there is some conflict of testimony, and about which the people doubtless desire to know the truth. We propose, therefore, to ask the Senator a few plain questions, to which we hope he will give plain and unambiguous answers.

Independent Candidates.

We regret to say we have a few, so-called, independent candidates in this portion of the State. They are, however, few in number, and arrayed, as they are, against their party friends and party organization, they are comparatively powerless.

Independent Candidates.

There is no more striking illustration of this than Dr. Norment, who is opposing the regular Convention nominee for the Senate in Robeson county. The Doctor was a strong man before the people when he was backed by the Conservative Party, but just as soon as he attempts to fight by himself, or in opposition to his party, he will come to grief as suddenly and as certainly as the man on the gallows does when the prop is knocked out.

Independent Candidates.

In Columbus county, also, we learn that N. L. Williamson is running in opposition to the regular nominee, V. V. Richardson. If it was not for the principle involved in the matter, we would be inclined to laugh at the idea of an independent candidate running against Van Richardson.

Independent Candidates.

Kernoy, in Duplin, has retired and Fissell is the regular Radical nominee formally nominated, so that when Dr. Norment and Williamson are sufficiently annoyed, our section will be all quiet.

Independent Candidates.

We really pity these men canvassing and electioneering, and traveling about and spending money this hot weather, running independent against such men as J. W. Ellis and V. V. Richardson.

Independent Candidates.

A few days more, and they, too, will retire. The fact is, the weather is entirely too hot for independent candidates now. None but regular nominees can stand the pressure and perspiration, and some of them on the other side are getting pretty well. Neill McKay's load, for instance, is getting so big and heavy that he is just about bent double under it. He will collapse entirely on election day.

Independent Candidates.

We trust our friends will keep us posted about his movements and those of his political half brothers, Messrs. Norment and Williamson, the "independents."

Independent Candidates.

Look out, gentlemen, the prop is about to be knocked out.

Independent Candidates.

No man, not a native born Massachusetts Yankee, could have had the assurance to make the speech that the "spious" Wilson made here on Thursday.

Independent Candidates.

If the contest in which we are engaged was not one of such vital importance, we might almost admire the cool impudence of the sanctimonious hypocrite who, after twelve years of incessant persecution and oppression of our people, could come in our midst and profess for us the unbounded love and affection that Senator Wilson professes.

Independent Candidates.

The pageant possesses, however, too many elements of tragedy to allow us to dwell upon any of its farcical points.

Independent Candidates.

But perhaps the distinguishing characteristic of the speech was its devilish, insulating malignity. No amount of pretence of christian charity can conceal the hate this Massachusetts hypocrite feels for the Southern white people, or disguise his delight as he chuckles and gloats over the fallen, prostrate condition of his life-long enemies. The Southern Armies have been disbanded, the Southern people have been subjugated, and the pious hypocrite, Henry Wilson, for the second time comes among us, to satiate his savage soul's fiendish tyranny by almost above all others, has indicted upon us.

Independent Candidates.

We have said the chief characteristic of his speech was, perhaps, its malignity. We are not sure, however, that his falsehood does not equal its malignity, or perhaps, exceed it. Indeed, for deliberate suppression of truth, for willful expression of falsehood, we know of no man who can hold a light to Henry Wilson, of Massachusetts, unless he be John Pool, of North Carolina.

Independent Candidates.

The man who, with the record that Henry Wilson possesses, makes such utterances as he made in his speech here, wilfully suppresses the truth and deliberately utters falsehood, and does so consciously, knowingly, designedly and malignantly.

to resist any further encroachments upon her sacred rights.

Resolved, That in the event the Federal Government repeats or impairs the efficiency of the provisions of the fugitive slave law, or refuses to enforce its execution, in good faith, that it would be the duty of the State to take such measures as may be required for her safety and honor.

Resolved, That if either of the contingencies contemplated in the foregoing resolutions should arise during the recess of the General Assembly, that the Governor be requested to convene that body to the end that the rights of the State may be maintained.

Resolved, That a copy be transmitted to each Senator and Representative in Congress and to the Governor of each State.

John Pool, United States Senator.

This notorious individual has promised to speak here to-day. Notwithstanding Senator Pool is so notorious throughout the length and breadth of the land, there are a few points in his record about which there is some conflict of testimony, and about which the people doubtless desire to know the truth. We propose, therefore, to ask the Senator a few plain questions, to which we hope he will give plain and unambiguous answers.

Independent Candidates.

We regret to say we have a few, so-called, independent candidates in this portion of the State. They are, however, few in number, and arrayed, as they are, against their party friends and party organization, they are comparatively powerless.

Independent Candidates.

There is no more striking illustration of this than Dr. Norment, who is opposing the regular Convention nominee for the Senate in Robeson county. The Doctor was a strong man before the people when he was backed by the Conservative Party, but just as soon as he attempts to fight by himself, or in opposition to his party, he will come to grief as suddenly and as certainly as the man on the gallows does when the prop is knocked out.

Independent Candidates.

In Columbus county, also, we learn that N. L. Williamson is running in opposition to the regular nominee, V. V. Richardson. If it was not for the principle involved in the matter, we would be inclined to laugh at the idea of an independent candidate running against Van Richardson.

Independent Candidates.

Kernoy, in Duplin, has retired and Fissell is the regular Radical nominee formally nominated, so that when Dr. Norment and Williamson are sufficiently annoyed, our section will be all quiet.

Independent Candidates.

We really pity these men canvassing and electioneering, and traveling about and spending money this hot weather, running independent against such men as J. W. Ellis and V. V. Richardson.

Independent Candidates.

A few days more, and they, too, will retire. The fact is, the weather is entirely too hot for independent candidates now. None but regular nominees can stand the pressure and perspiration, and some of them on the other side are getting pretty well. Neill McKay's load, for instance, is getting so big and heavy that he is just about bent double under it. He will collapse entirely on election day.

Independent Candidates.

We trust our friends will keep us posted about his movements and those of his political half brothers, Messrs. Norment and Williamson, the "independents."

Independent Candidates.

Look out, gentlemen, the prop is about to be knocked out.

Independent Candidates.

No man, not a native born Massachusetts Yankee, could have had the assurance to make the speech that the "spious" Wilson made here on Thursday.

Independent Candidates.

If the contest in which we are engaged was not one of such vital importance, we might almost admire the cool impudence of the sanctimonious hypocrite who, after twelve years of incessant persecution and oppression of our people, could come in our midst and profess for us the unbounded love and affection that Senator Wilson professes.

Independent Candidates.

The pageant possesses, however, too many elements of tragedy to allow us to dwell upon any of its farcical points.

Independent Candidates.

But perhaps the distinguishing characteristic of the speech was its devilish, insulating malignity. No amount of pretence of christian charity can conceal the hate this Massachusetts hypocrite feels for the Southern white people, or disguise his delight as he chuckles and gloats over the fallen, prostrate condition of his life-long enemies. The Southern Armies have been disbanded, the Southern people have been subjugated, and the pious hypocrite, Henry Wilson, for the second time comes among us, to satiate his savage soul's fiendish tyranny by almost above all others, has indicted upon us.

Independent Candidates.

We have said the chief characteristic of his speech was, perhaps, its malignity. We are not sure, however, that his falsehood does not equal its malignity, or perhaps, exceed it. Indeed, for deliberate suppression of truth, for willful expression of falsehood, we know of no man who can hold a light to Henry Wilson, of Massachusetts, unless he be John Pool, of North Carolina.

Independent Candidates.

The man who, with the record that Henry Wilson possesses, makes such utterances as he made in his speech here, wilfully suppresses the truth and deliberately utters falsehood, and does so consciously, knowingly, designedly and malignantly.

to resist any further encroachments upon her sacred rights.

Resolved, That in the event the Federal Government repeats or impairs the efficiency of the provisions of the fugitive slave law, or refuses to enforce its execution, in good faith, that it would be the duty of the State to take such measures as may be required for her safety and honor.

Resolved, That if either of the contingencies contemplated in the foregoing resolutions should arise during the recess of the General Assembly, that the Governor be requested to convene that body to the end that the rights of the State may be maintained.

Resolved, That a copy be transmitted to each Senator and Representative in Congress and to the Governor of each State.

John Pool, United States Senator.

This notorious individual has promised to speak here to-day. Notwithstanding Senator Pool is so notorious throughout the length and breadth of the land, there are a few points in his record about which there is some conflict of testimony, and about which the people doubtless desire to know the truth. We propose, therefore, to ask the Senator a few plain questions, to which we hope he will give plain and unambiguous answers.

Independent Candidates.

We regret to say we have a few, so-called, independent candidates in this portion of the State. They are, however, few in number, and arrayed, as they are, against their party friends and party organization, they are comparatively powerless.

Independent Candidates.

There is no more striking illustration of this than Dr. Norment, who is opposing the regular Convention nominee for the Senate in Robeson county. The Doctor was a strong man before the people when he was backed by the Conservative Party, but just as soon as he attempts to fight by himself, or in opposition to his party, he will come to grief as suddenly and as certainly as the man on the gallows does when the prop is knocked out.

Independent Candidates.

In Columbus county, also, we learn that N. L. Williamson is running in opposition to the regular nominee, V. V. Richardson. If it was not for the principle involved in the matter, we would be inclined to laugh at the idea of an independent candidate running against Van Richardson.

Independent Candidates.

Kernoy, in Duplin, has retired and Fissell is the regular Radical nominee formally nominated, so that when Dr. Norment and Williamson are sufficiently annoyed, our section will be all quiet.

Independent Candidates.

We really pity these men canvassing and electioneering, and traveling about and spending money this hot weather, running independent against such men as J. W. Ellis and V. V. Richardson.

Independent Candidates.

A few days more, and they, too, will retire. The fact is, the weather is entirely too hot for independent candidates now. None but regular nominees can stand the pressure and perspiration, and some of them on the other side are getting pretty well. Neill McKay's load, for instance, is getting so big and heavy that he is just about bent double under it. He will collapse entirely on election day.

Independent Candidates.

We trust our friends will keep us posted about his movements and those of his political half brothers, Messrs. Norment and Williamson, the "independents."

Independent Candidates.

Look out, gentlemen, the prop is about to be knocked out.

Independent Candidates.

No man, not a native born Massachusetts Yankee, could have had the assurance to make the speech that the "spious" Wilson made here on Thursday.

Independent Candidates.

If the contest in which we are engaged was not one of such vital importance, we might almost admire the cool impudence of the sanctimonious hypocrite who, after twelve years of incessant persecution and oppression of our people, could come in our midst and profess for us the unbounded love and affection that Senator Wilson professes.

Independent Candidates.

The pageant possesses, however, too many elements of tragedy to allow us to dwell upon any of its farcical points.

Independent Candidates.

But perhaps the distinguishing characteristic of the speech was its devilish, insulating malignity. No amount of pretence of christian charity can conceal the hate this Massachusetts hypocrite feels for the Southern white people, or disguise his delight as he chuckles and gloats over the fallen, prostrate condition of his life-long enemies. The Southern Armies have been disbanded, the Southern people have been subjugated, and the pious hypocrite, Henry Wilson, for the second time comes among us, to satiate his savage soul's fiendish tyranny by almost above all others, has indicted upon us.

Independent Candidates.

We have said the chief characteristic of his speech was, perhaps, its malignity. We are not sure, however, that his falsehood does not equal its malignity, or perhaps, exceed it. Indeed, for deliberate suppression of truth, for willful expression of falsehood, we know of no man who can hold a light to Henry Wilson, of Massachusetts, unless he be John Pool, of North Carolina.

Independent Candidates.

The man who, with the record that Henry Wilson possesses, makes such utterances as he made in his speech here, wilfully suppresses the truth and deliberately utters falsehood, and does so consciously, knowingly, designedly and malignantly.

to resist any further encroachments upon her sacred rights.

Resolved, That in the event the Federal Government repeats or impairs the efficiency of the provisions of the fugitive slave law, or refuses to enforce its execution, in good faith, that it would be the duty of the State to take such measures as may be required for her safety and honor.

Resolved, That if either of the contingencies contemplated in the foregoing resolutions should arise during the recess of the General Assembly, that the Governor be requested to convene that body to the end that the rights of the State may be maintained.

Resolved, That a copy be transmitted to each Senator and Representative in Congress and to the Governor of each State.

John Pool, United States Senator.

This notorious individual has promised to speak here to-day. Notwithstanding Senator Pool is so notorious throughout the length and breadth of the land, there are a few points in his record about which there is some conflict of testimony, and about which the people doubtless desire to know the truth. We propose, therefore, to ask the Senator a few plain questions, to which we hope he will give plain and unambiguous answers.

Independent Candidates.

We regret to say we have a few, so-called, independent candidates in this portion of the State. They are, however, few in number, and arrayed, as they are, against their party friends and party organization, they are comparatively powerless.

Independent Candidates.

There is no more striking illustration of this than Dr. Norment, who is opposing the regular Convention nominee for the Senate in Robeson county. The Doctor was a strong man before the people when he was backed by the Conservative Party, but just as soon as he attempts to fight by himself, or in opposition to his party, he will come to grief as suddenly and as certainly as the man on the gallows does when the prop is knocked out.

Independent Candidates.

In Columbus county, also, we learn that N. L. Williamson is running in opposition to the regular nominee, V. V. Richardson. If it was not for the principle involved in the matter, we would be inclined to laugh at the idea of an independent candidate running against Van Richardson.

Independent Candidates.

Kernoy, in Duplin, has retired and Fissell is the regular Radical nominee formally nominated, so that when Dr. Norment and Williamson are sufficiently annoyed, our section will be all quiet.

Independent Candidates.

We really pity these men canvassing and electioneering, and traveling about and spending money this hot weather, running independent against such men as J. W. Ellis and V. V. Richardson.

Independent Candidates.

A few days more, and they, too, will retire. The fact is, the weather is entirely too hot for independent candidates now. None but regular nominees can stand the pressure and perspiration, and some of them on the other side are getting pretty well. Neill McKay's load, for instance, is getting so big and heavy that he is just about bent double under it. He will collapse entirely on election day.

Independent Candidates.

We trust our friends will keep us posted about his movements and those of his political half brothers, Messrs. Norment and Williamson, the "independents."

Independent Candidates.

Look out, gentlemen, the prop is about to be knocked out.

Independent Candidates.

No man, not a native born Massachusetts Yankee, could have had the assurance to make the speech that the "spious" Wilson made here on Thursday.

Independent Candidates.

If the contest in which we are engaged was not one of such vital importance, we might almost admire the cool impudence of the sanctimonious hypocrite who, after twelve years of incessant persecution and oppression of our people, could come in our midst and profess for us the unbounded love and affection that